Response to Amendment

1. Claims 15 and 18-23 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by Meszaros et al (6,080,330) is withdrawn.
2. Claims 15 and 18-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Meszaros et al (6,080,330).
3. Meszaros et al disclose an aqueous glycol coolant antifreeze composition comprising a mixture of monocarboxylic and dicarboxylic acids wherein said acids include sebacic acid and 2-ethylhexanoic acid (abstract; col. 3, lines 1-24). Additional corrosion inhibitors are used such as quaternized imidazole and organic acids (col. 3, lines 30-50) and further said glycols includes alkylene glycols (col. 4, lines 15-45).

The above disclosure is insufficient to anticipate the above listed claims, however, it would have nonetheless been obvious to the skilled artisan to produce the claimed composition, as the reference teaches each of the claimed ingredients within the claimed proportions for the same utility.

[W]hen a patent 'simply arranges old elements with each performing the same function it had been known to perform' and yields no more than one would expect from such an arrangement, the combination is obvious. [KSR Int'l Co. v. Teleflex Inc., 550 U.S. at 418 (quoting Sakraida v. Ag Pro, Inc., 425 U.S. 273,282 (1976)).]

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 7-19-2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
5. Applicant argues that the amount of mono and di carboxylic acid employed in Meszaros et al is less than the minimum claimed.

Art Unit: 1796

6. The examiner contends that the amounts of mono and di carboxylic acids do not overlap but are close enough where one of ordinary skill in the art would have been able to optimize the proportions to produce similar results in the absence of unexpected results.

Similarly, a prima facie case of obviousness exists where the claimed ranges and prior art ranges do not overlap but are close enough that one skilled in the art would have expected them to have the same properties. Titanium Metals Corp. of America v. Banner, 778 F.2d 775, 227 USPQ 773 (Fed. Cir. 1985)

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
